

Unipart Rail & Houghton

Unipart Rail have been working closely with Houghton over the last 3 years to develop an upper quartile traction motor overhauler that enables Unipart Rail to deliver its commitments to improving Quality, Cost and Delivery.

Houghton have produced over the last three years approximately 550 motors for Unipart Rail. Predominately G310, the performance of these motors being unprecedented with only two warranty claims raised over this three-year period. This is against a backdrop of offering a 100% improvement in the warranty period plus the addition of a fully comprehensive support package.

Unipart Rail values Houghton's flexible approach and the commitment to satisfying the customer needs. We look forward to a continued partnership with Houghton to develop and further improve product performance on these strategically important components.
